A Little Guide to Wild Flowers	Charlotte Voake	Learn how to identify different wild flowers and find out more about what is growing in your local area. The informative guide is accompanied by watercolour illustrations and is a good choice of book if you want to get out and about to do some plant-spotting.
The Little Gardener	Emily Hughes	A beautifully illustrated story about a very tiny boy who works hard to tend to a struggling garden. The garden is wild and unruly and the boy works with persistence to try and make something beautiful grow there.
The Enormous Potato	Aubrey Davis	This is the classic Enormous Turnip story retold with a potato. After the potato turns into the biggest potato in the world, the farmer must call for reinforcements in order to get the potato out of the ground.
Bonkers About Beetroot	Cath Jones & Chris Jevons	This is a truly original picture book that, like its name, is just a bit bonkers! It tells the story of an innovative zebra who is looking for a way to bring in visitors to Sunset Safari Park to save it from being closed down. In true entrepreneurial spirit, Zebra decides to grow the world's most enormous beetroot which, with a nod to the story of the Enormous Turnip, becomes so big that the only thing to do is to eat it. However, eating the beetroot has unintentional and colourful consequences for Zebra in a humorous twist.
Wangari's Trees of Peace: A True Story from Africa	Jeanette Winter	This beautiful and factual picture book about Wangari Maathai is inspiring and full of hope. The devastating impact of deforestation is made starkly clear but it is counterbalanced by the actions taken by first Wangari Maathai and then more and more women until millions of trees had been planted and healing began.
